

B. C. S. Bulletin To Old Boys

VOL. XI NO. 1

COMPILER: H.L.HALL, M.A.

November, 1951.

During the summer months extensive repairs were carried out at the School and just as the fresh paint has added a refreshing glow to old surroundings, so too a new tone in the spirit of the School has been sensed right from the start of the term. Everyone -- boys and staff -- returned from the long holidays with high ambitions and resolutions to put in a successful year, and with the Headmaster's stimulating words, "Look into your hearts and see God there -- or the cold absence of Him", spoken at the opening Chapel Service of the year when he urged all to co-ordinate hard work and religion in order to enjoy a fuller life, the 115th. year of the School has got off to an excellent start.

We are delighted to hear that the membership in the Association has taken a climb upwards and that numerous Old Boys, who had been members but had dropped out, responded so well to the letter sent out by the Directors during the summer. Annual fees of $3.00 and Life Membership fees of $100.00 should be sent to:

J. CHURCHILL-SMITH, ESQ., 132, St. James St. W., MONTREAL, P.Q.

No need to go into all that again --- you simply can't lose by becoming a life-member: in fact you save something like 40 2/3 years' annual fees by paying just $100.00 ONCE.

Numerous Old Boys have evinced surprise that the School is as old as it is, and a few had forgotten that its Centenary had been held in May 1937. For those who missed the celebrations at that date, and to refresh the memory of those who were present, elsewhere in this issue of the BULLETIN will be found an account of the Centenary Festival as taken from the Centenary Issue of the Magazine, edited by R.L. Young in June 1937.

Although the celebrations were staged in 1937, since that date a letter in the Dominion Archives at Ottawa has proved that the School was in existence in 1836. Prior to 1937, it was supposed that the School was founded in February 1837. Consequently, the Centenary was held in 1937, and in May when weather conditions were more favorable than in February for holding such an important celebration in the history of the School.

THE HEADMASTER' S MESSAGE TO OLD BOYS:

Mr. Hall has been kind enough to ask if I would write a message for this issue of the Bulletin, Just as I was about to begin, Mr. Jolly's letter, which is reprinted in full in this issue, arrived in the mail.

Mr. Jolly has caught the spirit of an Old Boy's affection for his School so well, and speaks with such authority of experience, that there seems little for me to add. I recommend it to you most warmly.

However, a headmaster is rarely caught without words. May I add, as it were by way of further emphasis to Mr. Jolly's letter, one thought: B.C.S. is your School: by its very being it has added to your well-being: the least you owe it is your loyalty and support. Naturally, these can be best given through the Old Boys' Association.

Please come back and visit the School whenever you can. I think you would be interested in the work a loyal and co-operative staff is doing to try to make your School the best in Canada.

A letter to the Headmaster from Donald C. Jolly, ('96-'99), Chief Engineer, Kelly Systems Inc., 422 North Western Ave., Chicago, U.S.A., whose recent visit to the School we appreciate and whom we welcome most cordially as a Life Member in the Old Boys' Association:

October 15th, 1951

Dear Mr. Glass:

This moment finds me back in my office. Before the fog of business again closes around me I want to write you. It will afford opportunity for thanking you so much for the hearty welcome you gave an Old Boy who came home to the School of his childhood days after so many years -- fifty five of them. I shall not forget your warmth, interest and kindness. My deep gratitude to you and your associates.

A book would be required to chronicle all that passed through my mind that day: some of it so very clear, much that was hazy. I believe my years at the School were from '96 to '99, though I could be a year off on the '96. Too, after seeing the memorial to Richmond of the College, of which we spoke, the picture of that tragedy becomes more clear for I was at the scene. I spoke to you of "Gaspé" Walters of the School. Somehow he fitted into the picture, or one similar to it, but that is a little hazy.

You will understand, I am sure, that going back to B.C.S. after more than half a century was quite an ordeal and ripe with emotions. Oddly and happily my first physical contact was with a group of boys from the Prep; splendid, bright and happy lads, all about the same age as I was at B.C.S. Seeing and standing among them, the avalanche of memories almost overwhelmed me. I was touched far beyond words to describe.

The tour with you through the several buildings and quarters was intensely interesting. It was all very beautiful and I would like to have ambled through them again had there been time to do so. As it was, I fear you gave me too much of your time. I did appreciate it all so much.

True, the School has moved across the river from its old site, but it is yet Bishop's College School as attested by the familiar crest which I stopped to photograph at the drive-way entrance. A staging for repairs stood before the sign. I was a little startled by a voice behind me which offered to remove the staging for a better picture. It was the Care-taker who sensed my thought. That was very thoughtful of him. Certainly the School in all its present setting is beautiful. I was quite awed with it all.

Later I crossed the river and slowly approached the old school site, wading through memories which sprang to greet me at every step, not memories of myself alone, but co-mingled with many of the boys who were at the School with me. Nothing would be added by giving them names; too many have "gone on ahead". I must admit having a "lump in my throat" during much of the day. Truly, I am convinced we remain boys, at heart, through all our years even though the House in which we dwell suffers the weathering.

As I entered the old school building I first noticed the bell rope was missing from where it dangled just inside the door. Old class rooms are no more, but the reading room remains exactly as it was; and happily so, for it offers a secure grip on the past. The elevator is still in place. It looks the same except for the new pull rope. Apparently the elevator has gained nothing in capacity for still it is forbidden to ride on it. All these observations seem insignificant, but not to an Old Boy who so well remembers the minor things as well as the important.

Then to the basement. Well, the privy is gone. The shoe room farther along the hallway where, as a "new-boy" I polished many a shoe -- that is gone too. Across the hallway I would like to have peeked into the old boiler room, but I noticed a warning on the door of instant dismissal for so doing. I could not risk that penalty at my age! The closed door, it used to have a grill, could not shut from memory the three boilers, or the huge coal shovels we used as frying pans when, at night, we risked the consequences of an escapade. I could see "Pete", the Headmaster, looking very stern when, on one occasion -- the last one, we were caught. I could almost feel the sting of the penalty -- a caning.

The little closet at the end of the basement hallway was there too. I wondered if it still had the dirt floor where some of us buried souvenirs from the dining-car of a Grand Trunk wrecked train. Later the spoils were returned by "special request".

On the second floor I was to receive the only heart wrench of the day. Walking down the hallway I turned to enter the door of my old dormitory. My bed was just inside on the left. Here I would find much to recall, but no, all was gone, there was nothing for memory to cling to. Before me was a laboratory, only that -- nothing more. One lone student was mixing a chemical concoction of some sort; I am sure it must have been a vile one. I moved along. At the end of the hallway I paused at the door of a room which used to lead into old Kate's sitting room. That dear old soul had soothed away many a lad's "injured feelings", including my own. Here Kate spent many years of her life. I am sure that Old Boys of the '70s, '80s and '90s would remember Kate, and most kindly.

The quadrangle where we used to drill for our sins, when punishment drill was in vogue, and where we tumbled, romped and played at other times, is now a green carpet. There was no grass there in '97 and '98. The new gym, it was new in those days, is no longer a gymnasium. Co-eds tote their books across the campus, or is it still called the "quad"? I hope so. This seemed an intrusion to me, but I suppose it marks the march of time. In my day the girls went to Compton: I had three sisters there and, so far as I know, I as the only boy ever to dine with the girls at Compton Ladies College, but then only once.

Then, across the quad was the one place I had purposely left until the last -- the Chapel. I hoped so much that this had been untouched through the years. I remembered it as the most beautiful I was ever in. Walking to it, I climbed the stairs to the door through which we went to reach the dining hall. Just inside to the right a second door would give entrance to the Chapel. Everything was there, and just in front of me was a very small door. Inside would be a cubbyhole which housed the bellows for the organ. Many a punishment drill hour had I worked off pumping those bellows, and more than once the pull on a string from the organist (Mr. Davis) would urge me to pump faster. The door fascinated me, but I did not look inside.

With some hesitancy I opened the door to the Chapel, stepped inside and stood there. As I stood there and looked around a warmth spread over me beyond any words to describe. I never experienced anything so wholesome, and never have felt so humble. As a child of ten or eleven the interior of that Chapel had registered so strongly in my mind that I felt I knew every inch of it. I believe I did. To me in the yesteryear it was beautiful, as I stood there now it was a thousand times more so. Nothing seemed altered. The light was dim, there was not a sound, no one was there, I was alone and grateful for that. I'll pass over the following minutes for those I spent with the Master of us all.

Later I sat in the choir pew from which I sang those many years ago. In that solitude one could meditate. How long I sat there I do not know, but I am sure that when I left the Chapel I took something with me which, as a boy, I couldn't have sensed. I left the grounds quite happy that I had come. I hope some day to return.

I hope the reading of all this has not bored you for I feel the better for writing it. Much of habit through life was engendered at B.C.S. I have always been mindful of it. It was good to return there if only for a day.

Finally, will you thank Mr. Hall for giving me a copy of the Magazine and of the Bulletin. They were very interesting. I note in the first paragraph of the latter reference is made to subscription, and more especially the purpose for which it is used. I am rather ashamed at being so tardy, but I am enclosing my cheque for $100.00 to cover Life Membership.

Again my thanks for the warmth of your reception, and with every good wish to you all,

Donald C.P. Jolly.

422 N. Western Ave.,
Chicago 12, Illinois.

We are grateful to Bill Doheny ('30-'38) for sending us the following letter which he received from R.K. Boswell ('30-'37):

C/o HQ East Africa Comd.,
P.O. Box 4000, Nairobi, Kenya.

May 22, 1951,

"Since last writing, I have been on quite a lengthy tour of the Colony and up into Uganda as well. The topography is very varied particularly in a vertical sense for one goes from sea level up to the 7000 foot farming and ranching plateau country in quite a short distance. The paradox of the snows of Mount Kenya on the equator is an incredible sight. There is a rather good pub at the foot of it which has the bar divided by 'the line'. The crossing can in consequence be done in good style. Another interesting spot was Jinja on Lake Victoria. It is here, at the source of the Nile, that a large hydro-electric project is being initiated. It is due to be completed in a couple of years and with the power available that area of Uganda will be turned from African small-holdings to quite a sizeable industrial centre. This, I believe, was one of Kitchener's pet ideas."

The following letter was received by the Old Boys' Association from Mrs. Cunningham whose husband, A.A. Cunningham, ('87-'92) died in June 1950 in England:

Hemington Manor, Near Peterborough,
Northants, England.
June 27, 1951.

"You will, I feel sure, be glad to know he was always intensely interested in your BULLETIN, and to see the old names recurring as the new generation passed into your hands, and he always treasured a prize he received as prefect for being of greatest service to the School. From the affection he bore it and the many anecdotes he told me in connection with it, there can be no doubt that his school days really were the happiest days of his life. I think, perhaps, it may be encouraging for you to know this."

An excellent Thanksgiving week-end was held at the School in spite of miserable weather. Between 90-100 Old Boys and a great many parents and friends were present. Two Chapel services were held in St. Mark's Chapel -- one at 10.30 for Parents and Boys of the Prep at which the Chaplain, the Rev. B. Whitlow, related the medieval legend how St. Christopher received his name, and the second service, at 11.30 for Parents, Old Boys and Boys of the School, at which the Chaplain preached on the significance of the word "Holy" as found in the Hymn, "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lard God Almighty." The Chapel was crowded to overflowing in spite of the first service having been held to accommodate the great numbers.

In the afternoon the Headmaster and Mrs. Glass, to whom we extend our thanks for their hospitality, were "At Home" at Plantation, for the many parents and Old Boys.

Monday morning the annual Old Boys VS School rugby game was held. The Old Boys won, 12-7, with about 25 Old Boys turning out in uniform.

At 12.15 the Peter Holt Memorial Library was dedicated by the School Chaplain and officially opened by Mrs. W.R.G. Holt whose generosity provided the funds for the erection and equipment of the building in memory of her son. The Headmaster, read a short eulogy of Peter's achievements while he was at the School and in the R.C.A.F. when he met his death May 30-31, 1943, while on bombing operations over Germany. At the end of the service held in front of the main entrance of the Library (opposite the F.W. Ross Infirmary), a tour of inspection was carried out by the many people present.

At 1 o'clock, luncheon was served at two sittings and at 2.40 Prize Giving was held in the Assembly Hall. Seated on the platform were: Mr. Justice W. Mitchell ('16-'19: '23-'26), Chairman of the Board of School Directors: Brig. J.H. Price ('09-'15): Col. W.W. Ogilvie ('17-'22): The Headmaster. C.L.O. Glass ('28-'32): the Assistant-Headmaster, F.R. Pattison: the Master-in-Charge - the Prep School, the Rev. B. Whitlow: Brig. G.V. Whitehead ('08-'14): R.R. McLernon ('26-'30): Col. H.C. MacDougall ('16-'22): T.H.P. Molson ('16-'18): D. Doheny ('27-'34): G.A. Sharp ('23-'28): G.H. MacDougall ('24-'30). The Chairman welcomed the many guests to the School and paid tribute to the achievements of the former Chairman, Col. W.W. Ogilvie. Before calling on the Headmaster for his address, the Chairman pointed out the many blessings that we Canadians enjoy and our reason for being truly thankful. The Headmaster gave an excellent address which he developed under five headings: Headmasters, Masters, Boys, Old Boys and Parents. Stressing the point that life is not easy and, therefore, the preparation for life should not be easy, he advised eschewing fads for making education easy and emphasized the point that each age is reflected in the mirror of its own educational system. Pointing out that boys can make or break a school, and that boys will be judged on their own merits and achievements and, therefore, parents should co-operate so as not to jeopardize their children's chances, he urged all to uphold tradition and the school spirit which he termed as 'loyalty and gratitude to an institution that has helped you in the past.' He concluded by expressing the hope that through co-operation of Headmaster, Masters, Old Boys, Boys and Parents, B.C.S. would stand not only for Bishop's College School but for the Best School in Canada.

Brig. J.H. Price. ('09-'15), O.B.E., before distributing the prizes, spoke of the contributions of B.C.S. Old Boys in all spheres of life to the country and reminded the audience of the value of the training that boys receive at B.C.S. His request for a half-holiday was enthusiastically greeted by the boys.

Tea in the Dining Hall and a Tea Dance in the Gym, at which the Compton girls were present, from 4.30 to 7.00, brought the Thanksgiving activities to a close.

The following Old Boys were present over the week-end: (apologies to any Old Boys whose names have been inadvertently missed) F. Hardy. R. Setlakwe, N. Courey, R. Courey, D. Price, H. Price, H.M. MacDougall, H.C. MacDougall, R.R. MacDougall, W.W. Ogilvie, B.M. Ogilvie, A. Hutchison, B. Hutchison, R. Ross, G.A. Sharp, O.W. Sharp, A. Johnson, J. Winder, W. Mitchell, R. Pattison, N. Mitchell, E. EXPRESSION OF THANKS: The School gratefully thanks the following for their donations to the Peter Holt Memorial Library:

The Old Boys' Association for their generous cheque for $500.00 to purchase books.

G.B. McLeod ('84-'87), Esq., Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Hammond Lumber Co., San Francisco, California, for his cheque for $100.00 and then a second cheque for $50.00, to purchase books.

Mrs. Hugh Mackay, Danville, for several hundred books which are of great interest to the boys and members of the staff for reference to many topics. M

Mr. J.C. Vibert of Notre Dame de Grace, Montreal, for two large cartons of books which he wished to give away and which we are grateful to receive.

J.G.R. Shuter ('93-'00) for a carton of books which we are pleased to, receive and acknowledge with thanks.

During these years of stress and strain when lasting peace is still to be established, stability is of the utmost importance. Far too often the value of tradition, spirit, truth, morals is debased, and their lustre tarnished, by those who have thoughtlessly disregarded the high principles of the Christian way of life. These words represent virtues and are unchangeable in nature. They are of the greatest importance. A tradition or a spirit can easily be tossed away but they are not readily gained: they represent the hard work, aims, ideals of many through successive generations. That is why we at B.C.S. are proud of our tradition, our spirit, our way of life. And to strengthen them, it is wise from time to time to gain inspiration from the past and from those who have helped to forge them. For this reason, we quote in full the Foreword of the Centenary Issue written by the late Frank L. Packard (father of F. Packard ('33-'38) and R. Packard ('31-'34)), and the Editorial of the same issue written by the then editor of the School Magazine, R.L. Young. The message contained in each is worth re-reading. The tradition and spirit of the School are very much alive now as fifteen years ago, as fifty years ago, as one hundred years ago, Let us all add to its prestige so that in the years to come we may merit the approval which we accord our predecessors, and they theirs.

THE FOREWORD OF THE CENTENARY ISSUE OF THE MAGAZINE.

WRITTEN BY FRANK L. PACKARD

It seems to me that the honour and privilege of writing the Foreword for the Centenary Issue of the Magazine should have been awarded to an Old Boy rather than to someone like myself who has done nothing whatever to merit such distinction. I am not an Old Boy. That was not to be: though for almost as long as I can remember I have always wished I were. And that wish was deeper in my heart than ever before when I left Lennoxville a few days ago at the close of the stirring Centenary Festival.

One hundred years ! One hundred years of inspiring tradition ! To have had a little part in that ! I envy you all, your Head, the Staff, those of you who are still in the classrooms and on the playing fields, those who were once there though they have now left the School and gone out into the world -- every one of you has had, or is having, an intimate share in the making of that proud history which is the School's great heritage to-day.

Tradition is one of the most precious possessions in the world. Yours is of the richest and finest. I do not need to beg of you to guard and cherish it for I know you will. And that being so, Bishop's College School is still but on the threshold of its greatness.

THE EDITORIAL OF THE CENTENARY ISSUE OF THE MAGAZINE.

WRITTEN BY R.L. YOUNG, M.A.

The History of 100 years of B.C.S. is most fascinating: the history of the personages behind the scenes of this history is more fascinating still.

We compare her story with the staid story of other renowned Schools, living century after century in the same groove and the effect is heightened.

It has been said that nothing may be falser than facts and History itself illustrates this.

The historical facts of the School are matters of common knowledge. We discard them and turn instead to our conception of 100 years of B.C.S.

That conception is the impress left by great men and great minds on others. From these arose the Spirit of the School which rises above and beyond mere years and time.

It is a Spirit that could never be crushed. When one first comes in contact with it one is amazed at its intensity, It does not concern itself with numbers. It is the condensed and combined power of the still present effect of great minds that have so impressed their influence upon it that it appears to be undying, We venture to say that every boy who has been here any time carries away something of that impress indelibly stamped on him.

These are the things you cannot count or weigh: more real and present than facts and transcending them.

We, personally, have seen people stand appalled or spellbound and mutely uncomprehending before the Spirit of B.C.S., unable to analyse it.

Admittedly, other Schools have a wonderful spirit. The spirit of B.C.S. has an arresting quality that is unique.

Mountain, Rawson, Williams: the saintly Bishop Mountain. Rawson, the explorer: Bishop James Williams, called the Arnold of Canada, pure sources, upright, just men, scholars and heroes, these are some of the strands that have welded this spirit. These are the springs from which B.C.S. boys have drunk -- more potent than all the teaching of masters.

This spirit is something to be guarded even more than material advantages for, whenever these have failed, the Spirit of B.C.S. has rebuilt them.

THE CENTENARY FESTIVAL: MAY 22-24, 1937.

The Centenary programme began officially with the raising of the B.C.S. special Centenary flag on Saturday morning and with the registration of Old Boys that afternoon. Soon after lunch, Old Boys began to arrive, their names and years at B.C.S. being posted at once in the Main Hall. By 6.30 it was evident that the Banquet would be attended by a strong gathering from past years. covering half a century of school history, for the seventies, eighties, and nineties had their representatives, strongly supported by the decades since 1900. The Banquet at 7.30 was preceded by cocktails for Old Boys who met in the Hooper Library and gave the first evening of re-union a spirited start. When the School line passed into the Dining Hall, joined by Old Boys, over 250 sat down. The Hall afforded much for the visitors to admire, for recent decorations on the high oak panelling included names of Headmasters since the foundation, winners of both the Governor-General's and the Lieutenant-Governor's medals for over 50 years, and winners of the Greenshields Scholarship since its inauguration in 1920. Crests of other private schools in Canada in order of founding adorned the shields on oak ceiling beams, so that the solid splendour of the Hall was set off by colourful records of the past.

Along the walls were the boys of the School: at long tables inside these were the Old Boys, and in the centre the Prep School bogs. At the head table were: Rt. Rev. Lennox Williams ('70-'76); Major-General A.G.L. McNaughton ('00-'05), guest of honour at the Festival; Mr. P. Sise ('92-'96), Chairman of the Board of School Directors; Mr. Justice MacKinnon ('92-'96); Rev. A.H. McGreer; Dr. W.P. Percival; Rev. A. Jones; Mr. C.G.M. Grier, the Headmaster; Mr. Archdale; Major E. deL. Greenwood ('03-'12); Mr. W.A. Page; Mr. B.A. Hutchison ('06-'11); and G..E. Cross, Head Prefect. One would travel far and wide to find another menu which combined wit with history and good food with both, as did the menu on this occasion. For each course was associated with the name of a

B.C.S. Headmaster. After the Dinner, the Toast to the King was proposed by Mr. Sise. Then Dr. McGreer proposed the Toast to the School. This was answered by Major-General McNaughton. The School Song, "Gentianellae Color." was sung during the evening, and the Banquet broke up after the singing of the National Anthem.

A Centenary Service in St. Mark's Chapel, conducted by Rev. J.R. Allen, School Chaplain, and assisted by Rev. A. Jones, ushered in Sunday's activities. The sermon was preached by Rt. Rev. Lennox Williams who chose as his text "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills,-----." Following the morning service, buffet lunch was served in the Dining Hall. At 2.30 p.m. the Dedication of the new Preparatory School, a memorial to Mr. Grant Hall ('75-'80), took place. The Office of Dedication was conducted by Rt. Rev. Lennox Williams. In the evening another Chapel Service, conducted by the Chaplain, and the sermon preached by Rev. Jones, brought Sunday's celebrations to a fitting close.

Monday forenoon witnessed a colourful display in the inspection of the Cadet Corps by Major-General McNaughton. The Corps was commanded by Cadet-Major R.K. Boswell and Cadet-Lieutenants were A.G. Egerton, W.S. Tyndale, I.A. MacLean, W. Doheny, Efficiency trophies were awarded to R.K. Boswell, J.B. Kenny, P.T. Molson, C.D. Duclos. Lieut.-Instructor W.H. Fisher was in charge of a display of drill and physical training staged by the Prep. Buffet lunch followed as on Sunday, and provided an agreeable diversion between Inspection and the afternoon cricket match between Past and Present, The former representing the Old Boys soon showed that their cricket skill of other years had not waned. The Old Boys won by 9 runs. A dashing innings of 47 by Kenny for the Old Boys and excellent bowling by C.D. Sewell of the School, who took five wickets for two runs, were the features of the game. Capt. R. Bennett of the Old Boys elected to bat first and 70 runs were scored for the loss of only five wickets. Sewell's bowling was very effective and the remaining five wickets fell for seven runs. Robinson and Cross reached double figures for the School and J. Churchill-Smith made a stand at the close of play, keeping his wicket intact for a score of nine. Hugh Doheny, for the Old Boys, captured eight of the school wickets for slightly under three runs apiece.

In the afternoon, the Headmaster and Mrs. Grier were "At Home" at Plantation and received on the lawn the many guests, parents, Old Boys and Boys of the School. When darkness fell, the Prep staged a magnificent display of fireworks in front of the school, Lofty rockets and brilliant Roman candles shed their coloured lights on groups of watchers: Catherine wheels whirled their sparks in dizzy spirals and bombs soared into the night. Of outstanding interest was a large design of the School crest with the numeral 100, entirely constructed by the Prep boys. The display was concluded with a snake dance by the boys who whirled sparklers as they raced around the field.

Meanwhile, in the great Hall, glowing with a flood of magenta light, with long streamers of red, silver and orange suspended from medallions around the walls, bearing fanciful figures taken from School life, the orchestra tuned up for the opening extra. All the decorations were designed by R.A. Montgomery ('22-'26) and made by the boys under his direction. Medallions in purple and white, featured general topics relating to 100 years of school life; the School crest, bearing the figures 1837-1937, was done in purple and white and red, silver and purple were used for decorating the orchestra stage. The many guests were received by Major-General and Mrs. McNaughton, the Headmaster and Mrs. Grier. Mr. Page, and G.E. Cross, Head Prefect. At 11.30 supper was served and towards two o'clock the entire assembly lined up for the Grand March, more than 150 couples strong. A lively march set spirits soaring once more: the lines wheeled and met, doubling their width at each turn of the ball-room, until the phalanx offered a front of sixteen dancers linked arm in arm, ten or twelve lines deep, When they came to a halt, the orchestra struck up the old School Song -- Gentianellae Color -- the origin of which is long forgotten, but its ringing melody and rousing words proclaimed that the century-old spirit of B.C.S. is as youthful as ever. Auld Lang Syne followed soon afterwards, all joining hands around the Hall. After the National Anthem, the crowd broke up quickly. Cars whirled away from the quad into the darkness, lights went out gradually throughout the buildings, talking subsided in the dormitories and within an hour B.C.S. was dreaming of the celebrations which brought to a triumphant close its hundredth anniversary.

SCHOOL NOTES

VOL. XI. NO.1

COMPILERS: C. COHEN, T. GRIER.

NOVEMBER, 1951

This year we welcome to the School staff three new members: P.N. Reaper. Esq., ('48-'50) as duty master in the Upper School; R.B. Tait, Esq., B.A., University of Toronto, to the staff of the Preparatory School; and M.C. Evans. Esq., ('47-'50) as duty master in the Prep.

We extend congratulations to: Mr. & Mrs. R.L. Evans on the birth of a son early in July; Mr. & Mrs. F. Rush on their marriage early in September; and Mr. & Mrs. E. Pilgrim on the birth of a son on September 23.

The Peter Holt Memorial Library was opened officially on October 8, by Mrs. W.R.G. Holt. Situated on the Prep field, opposite the Infirmary, it consists of three rooms, the largest of which constitutes the library proper and at each end a smaller room, one a Senior form study-reading room and the other an Art room housing the Carnegie Art Collection and containing a Phillip's combination radio-gramophone. One end of this Art Room is being prepared for exhibitions from the Carnegie Art Collection. Harvest maple wood and furniture with plastic covered foam rubber upholstery in yellow, blue and green, wine coloured drapes, and ceiling fixtures and Tri-Lite floor lamps all combine to produce a pleasing and effective appearance. Already the shelves contain many fine books and forty long-playing records have been purchased for a collection of classical music. Our thanks to Mrs. Holt for her generosity in providing this beautiful library the need of which has long been felt at the School.

A new Tuck shop has been installed in the former Hooper Library. Complete with individual tables and chairs, its bar-like counter is finished in green leatherette, and the windows are covered with attractive red drapes. Already a wide variety of tuck is offered and with time further additions to the shop itself will be made.

The study hall has been completely re-painted and new desks have been installed during the summer. The walls have been painted an attractive blue. The wings of the former dormitories, which a few years ago were converted into class rooms, have been made into small hobby rooms.

Head Prefect: W. Badger
